3. Supervisors may review a personnel record of a direct staff member or of an indirect staff member who is an internal candidate being considered for a position. Supervisors can request to review the record at a mutually convenient time with the Human Resources Director or designee. Supervisors will not add or remove documents from the personnel record and this review will be conducted in the presence of the Human Resources Director or designee.

5. Supervisors do not have access to the employee personal, confidential, background screening or health related information.
6. Employees are permitted access to their personnel records by requesting a mutually convenient time with the Human Resources Director or designee.

8. If an employee believes there is an error in the personnel file, the employee is afforded the opportunity to provide a memo on the perceived or actual inaccuracy. Depending on the nature of the issue and the correction needed, this may be placed in the employee file immediately or may require further research to ensure the correction is warranted and appropriate. Additions and/or corrections are permitted in accordance with applicable law.
9. It is the responsibility of the Human Resources Director to research the issue with the employee and other related parties in order to achieve resolution. If the correction is determined to be warranted the change will be made and noted as a result of the employee review.
10. If the item is not found to be a mistake, the employee will be informed of the decision and the reason for it. If the employee is not satisfied with this response, he or she may file a complaint utilizing the Employee Grievance Process.
